

UC Davis ADVANCE

PRESENTS

Dr. Lynn Conway

Professor of EECS Emerita, University of Michigan
International renowned high-tech innovator, paradigm shifter & LGBTQ advocate.

Lynn Conway | Biography | IEEE Computer Report

Motto: "If you want to change the future, start living as if you're already there"

Thursday April
25th

Breakfast Panel:

Registration: 8:15am

8:30am –9:30am

Student Community Center, Multi-Purpose Room

Seminar:

10:00am—11:30am

Student Community Center, Multi-Purpose Room

Reception

4:30pm—5:30pm

Mondavi Center, Vanderhoef Studio Theater

Breakfast Panel:

"Finding Voice, Creating Space for Non-Dominant Voices"

Dr. Lynn Conway joins for panel discussion on learning how to find your voice to tell your story and advocate for yourself and others.

Seminar:

"An Invisible Woman: The Inside Story Behind the Microelectronic Computing Revolution in Silicon Valley"

In 2015, US CTO Megan Smith raised profound questions about women's contributions in science, engineering and math being erased from history. In this talk we explore a case study of such erasure and surface a very counter-intuitive conjecture about the underlying causes and effects (i.e., the "Conway Effect"). A Q&A discussion will follow this seminar presentation. Submit your questions for Dr. Conway HERE.

Register for this free event by April 18th:

<https://goo.gl/forms/iLaM3vIPxXBJZnSV2>

UC Davis ADVANCE is the campus host. Please contact Kate Blumenthal at kblumenthal@ucdavis.edu for any registration questions or additional information. Thank you to our event program partners:

